Aver's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and Irestiness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly

AVER'S Hair Migor has given me nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many lade preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had, was growing thinner, nutil I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair.—Julson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has lecome weak, gray, and said faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. ** My hair was thin, laded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal.—Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. A discase of the scalp caused my hair to be come harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. B. Foss, Milwaukse, Wis.

The committee on the next orator reported Colonel Gilbert A. Pierce, with General alternata, and their action was indorsed.

The committee to select a permanent location for headquarters and the selection of that or some other point as a place for all annual meetings, reported first in for all annual meetings, reported first in favor of a permanent headquarters at some centre location, until a two-thirds yote of the society changed the location. It was averse to fixing any one point at which the society would be obliged to hold its annual meeting. The report was adopted and Cincinnati made the headquarters, the annual expenses of such not to exceed $300. The officers of the society. residents at Cincinnati, were authorized

General Green B. Raum read resolutions of condolence and respect prepared by a committee in honor of General John A. Logan. They review his record and qualities as a soldier with words of the qualities as a soldier with words of the highest praise, as well as his earnest support of Fresident Lincoln in a vigorous prosecution of the war. The resolutions recommend the erection of a statue at the National capital to perpetuate the memory of the dead hero. Sympathy was extended to Mrs. Logan and family, and the resolutions, handsomely engrossed, will be presented to them. This same committee that reported in favor of the statue, with General Raum as chairman, was appointed to solicit sub-scriptions to the required fund. General Legest spoke for the society against the newspaper accusations of exclusiveness and snobbery in not admitting privates as members, at the same time saying the kindest things of the private soldiers of the army of the Tennessee.

General Henderson said the newspapers criticising the society did not even repre-sent the opinions of their readers. The General then spoke in terms most lands-tory of their reception. Detroit had smiled all over at their coming, met them with extended hands, and its walls were not to be seen because of the bunting which covered them.

Corresponding Secretary, General

Treasurer, Major-General M. F. Force. The river excursion on the steamer Grayhound in the afternoon consisted (of one thousand people, one half of them re-union guests. It was a joyous, happy crowd, filled to the brim with enthusiasm over Detroit's generous hospitality.

General Leggett took the floor in defense of the society of the Army of the Tennessee against the charges of snobbishness and explusiveness which had been made against it in the Detroit afternoon papers. The best of feelings have always existed, he said, among the officers of the army, and there was no jealousy when one was promoted. The same relations could not exist between officers and privates. The latter were braye and as honorable as their superiors, but the society was a social organization, based on the friendships formed during the war.

Others spoke in the same yein.

Colonel Calkins, of Indianapolis, read an exhaustive paper on the conflict of opinions preceding the war.

The society adjourned to mest next year in Toledo.

It is more than likely that Mr. Cameron never said any such thing. It doesn't sound one bit like an utterance of the old Pennsylvania stalwart.

The Greatest Pageant Ever Witnessed in this Country During a Time of Peace.

Thirty Thousand Soldiers and Grand Army Men Reviewed By President Cleveland.

Mrs. Cleveland Gets Even With the Old Soldiers' Organization for Saubbing Her Husband.

PHILADELPHIA, Sopt. 16.-Nature was kind to us yesterday, and to day she again showers her gifts upon us with a lavist hand. The day opened bright and clear. A better one could not be asked. Since baybreak people have been astir, and, clothed in holiday raiment, they were one and all starting in with a will to make the second day of the grand occasion even more of a success, if such a thing were possible, than yesterday. The sounds of file and drum early told that preparations were being made for the grand stree demonstration of the Nation's protectors Even during the time of the war of the rebellion, when men left the plow, the workshop, the home, and all to uphold the honor of their country with the deadly implements of warfare, there were not as many solbiers in Philadelphia as there Nearly thirty thousand uniformed sol Magistrate and the high officers of this and other governments before noon, and at their head rode the gallant cavalry hero, General Phil. H. Sheridan. There are at least half a million strangers within the city's gate to-day, and even with this vast throng, in addition to the million of inhabitants, the page of history made yesterday passed away without a Nota single accident of a serious nature marred the occasion. Everybody was good-natured and forbearing, and had but one object in their mind's eye, the peaceful and happy celebration of the greatest event of civilized times.

The President was not allowed to sleep very late this morning, for the day was packed full of incidents for him, and he had to start out betimes. His escort, the First City Troop of Cavalry, under Captain Grubb, reached the Lafayette Hotel long before nine o'clock, and in a few moments the committee of the Commercial Exchange drove up in barouches and paid their re-pect to the President. Chairman Tuoma : M. Thompson and B. K. Jamison were already there, and in a few moments Mr. Clovoland was ready for his first pub-lic duty of the day—the reception at the Commercial Exchange. The City Troop cleared a passage for the party, and Mr. Cleveland, leaning on the arms of Mossrs. Thompson and Jamison, entered the carriage waiting for him. The mombers of the committee followed, and in a few moments the party was clattering down ('hestnut street. At the custom-house the inspectors and other employes were drawn up in line and were reviewed by the President. The streets were almost impassable, and when the Exchange, which is located on Second street, above Wu'nut, was reached, it took all the efforts of the soldiers to clear a way into the building. In the meantime the members of the Commercial, Stock, Drug, Grocers and Importers', Maritime, Petroleum, Lumberman's, Textile and Wool Exchanges of the Board of Trade had assem-bled in the large hall on the third floor and were listening to the strains of the Weccacoe Legion Band. The arrival of the presidential party was the signal for repeated cheering.

Provident Comby of the Commercial Exchange than introduced the President, closely related not only to the general good, but to the general success of business. Of course our citizens engaged to business are quick to see the bouring of any policy which the Covernment may adopt, as it affects their success and their accumulation. But I would like to see that broad and patriotic sonthern which can see become their second their which can see become their timent uniong them which can see beyond their peculiar personal interest and which can recog-nize that the advancement of the entire coun-try is an object for which they may well strive, even sometimes to the diminution of their constantantly increasing profits. Must we always look for the political opinions of our business look for the political opinions of our Susmoss men provisely where they suppose their immediate pocuniary advantage is found? I know how vain at is to hope for the cradication of a solish motive in all affairs of life; but I am reminited that we celebrate to-day the triumph of patrictism over solfishness. Will any one say the concessions of the Constitution were any the concessions of the Constitution were not well made, or that we are not to-day in the full enjoyment of the bless-ings resulting from a due regard for all the condicting interests represented by the different States which were united a hun-

I believe the complete benefits promised to the people by our form of povernment can only be secured by an exercise of the same spirit of toleration for each other's rights and interests in which it had its birth. This spirit will provail when the business men of the counter, willight political theorets. of the country cultivate political thought; when they cease to eschew participation in political action, and when such thought and netion are go deal by better mostless than purely at this and exclusive benefit. J. Drexel and George W. Childs, who received with him. After the reception the presidential party drove to the reviewing stand, at Broad and Wainut streets, to witness the military parade.

Broad street, from end to end, presented a sight never to be forgotten. The rai-ment of the ladies and children lent a protty effect to the picture, and with the clear ky, the wide street, the handsome uniforms of the military and police was an inspiring scene. 敏 MILITARY DAY.

On the reviewing stand there was a congregation of distinguished visitors Among them were Governors Biggs of Delaware, Green of New Jersey, Sawyer of New Hampshire, Larabee of Iowa, Hughes of Arkansas, Gordon of Georgia, Buckuss of Kentucky, Thayer of Mebrass. Scales of North Carolina, Wilson o Vest Virginia, Lloyd of Maryland, Hill o New York, Lounsberry of Connecticut, Beaver of Pennsylvania and Senator Ingalis of Kansas.

At eleven o'clock the City Troop of Cav ary came down Broad street, escorting President Cleveland, who occupied an open barouche with Thomas M. Thomson, chairman of the committee on the recep-tion of distinguished guests, and Mayor Edwin H. Fitter. Behind them came a carriage with Secretary of State Bayard. George W. Childs, Secretary Fairchild and Amos R. Little. Other carriages fol-lowed with distinguished guests, among whom was Rutherford B. Hayes. When the line reached the reviewing stand the President's carriage halted, and as he alighted to take his place on the reviswing balcony of the grand stand the cavalry men stood "right about face" and saluted

There was a continuous round of cheers as the President rode by, and he bowed his acknowledgement of the compliment as he passed each stand. After salutin the President the City Troop proceeds down Broad street to take its place in the procession. Just behind the venerable Hannibal Hamlin, walked arm in arm with Thomas Donaldson, to their place on the stand. Then came Governor Hill and staff of New York. All of them were the recipients of round after round of ap-plause. The President occupied a beautifully carved mahogany chair presented to him for the occasion by a prominent furniture firm in this city, and around him sat Secretaries Bayard and Fairchild Governor Hill and ex-President Haves. Shortly after eleven o'clock Mrs. Cleve land appeared on the balcony of the La-fayette Hotei, followed by Private Secre-tary Lamont and wife and two or three guests. Mrs. Cleveland received an en-thusiastic round of applause as she appeared in front of the balcony, dressed in a handsome black silk dress, with white insertions, and a beautiful white feather

At just 9:20 General Phil Sheridan mounted on a handsoms sorrel horse, came up the street at the head of the vast cavalcade of military preceded by a squad of mounted reserves. As he passed the reviewing stand the President arose and tipped his silk hat. It was then one consheridan came the City Troop of cavalry on their pancing steeds, and they presented a beautiful appearance. As the cavalry men passed the grand stand, each of the companies [went through the drilling evolutions with a precision that was amazing. Then came a handsomely-uniformed band of the State militla, playing patriotic airs. Next to them were the Dismounted United States Light Artillery, and directly after them came the Mount of Heavy Artillery, with their polished carriages and shining cannons. Admiral Luce rode at the head of the column of the naval turn-out and preceded the Marine Band, who, with their hand-some uniforms of red hats and white trousers, marching in four files the entire width of the street, presented a beautiful and imposing sight. Following closely were the detachment of marines from the North Atlantic squadron, now anchored in the waters of the Delaware. Governor Riggs was at the front of the Delaware troops. As each platoon passed the President, their communder gracefully raised his hat and saluted him, receiving in return a bow of recognition from the Commander-in-Chief of all the troops. Governor Boaver of Pennsylvania was followed by nearly ten thousand Pennsylvania was followed by nearly ten thousand Pennsylvania was yania militia.

The end of the parade was occupied by the Grand Army of the Republic, and as each post passed in front of the stand its commander gave assists to the President and was recognized. Post No. 2, of this city, carried in the center of its column twenty-one of the flags captured by them during the war. During the time they were passing the Fresident remained standing with his bend uncovered and answered ouch salute as it was given. ders had previously been issued by the De-partment Commander G. A. R., that only Post Commanders should sainte, the mer in line to walk facing shead. This was no strictly adhered to, however, and many of those of the rank and file passed by the stand with uncovered heads. It was just fifteen minutes to three o'clock when the last of the Grand Army men passed by. After the end of the parade had passed the First City Troop of Philadelphia cavalry were drawn up in double columns for the purpose of escorting the presiden-tial party back to their hotel, which was less than half a square distant. the street, leaning on the arm of ex-Minis ter John A. Kasson, he was greeted with tumultuous applause, people velling them selves hourse in their anxiety to show their appreciation of his presence. Direct-ly behind the President and Mr. Kasson came Socretaries Bayard and Fairchild, and next came Admiral Luce and his staff. When all the party reached the street, they walked almost in the middle of the street to their quarters at the hotel, pre-ceded and followed by portions of the City Troop. As they walked along there was one continual round of cheering, to which the President responded by raising his line of parade, 5,000 or 5,000 of them were Frand Army men.

An incident which caused no end of comment, was the retirement of Mrs. Cleveland from her balcony in front of the Hotel Lafayette, just before the Grand Army division reached that point, and not reappearing during the time they were passing. Private Secretary Lamont, his wife, Mr. Drexel and others who were with her, also left their places at the same time, and they, too, remained away. It was regarded as unfortunate that this incident should have occurred to mar what was otherwise the most complete and successful exhibition of military known, and many of the occupants of the stand, who were in full view of Mrs Cleveland and party, during her presence expressed deep regret at her movement.

To give an idea of the enormous propor tions of the parade, it may be said that the following is about the number of men participating. As near as could be judged, from the stand as they passed by: United States troops, 800; Delaware, one full regiment; Pennsylvania, three brig ades, about 8,000 men; New Jersey, 1,500;

Georgia, 50; Connecticut, 100; Massachusetts, 1,200; Maryland, 1,000; South Carolina, 150; New Hampshire, 150, Virginia, 800; New York, 5,000; North Carolina, 50; Rhode Island, 200; Ohio, one full regiment; Maine, 400; West Virginia, 200; Iowa, 50; District of Columbia, 800; Grand Army, 7,000, making with their bands and others

Lord Salisbury Wavering From the Policy Adopted By the Ministry in Regard to Ireland.

THE PHILADELPHIA CELEBRATION. LONDON, Sept. 17.—The centennial cele-bration at Philadelphia is attracting universal attention here in England, and with the exception of a few habitual grumblers who sneer at every thing un-English, favorable comment is heard or English, favorable comment is heard of every hand. The daily papers are devoting considerable space to the subject, both in their news columns and editorially. The Daily News says: The experiment which has now been in progress across the Atlantic for over a century, is the most conclusive that has ever been pre-sented in the history of humanity. With America among the nations of the first rank, the humblest may take hope. "The true festival of universal humani-ty is being celebrated." Words like these exhibit the spirit shown toward America in her triumphant celebration by the English press in general, especially the less conservative papers. During the last dozen years the tone of British comment of things American has changed considerably, and now, in place of the old-time ridicule and psevish, not to say in-solent criticism that was freely meted out to Americans and their institutions, a respectful, and a far more intelligent, manner is exercised in judging their trans-atlantic cousins. There are two reasons for this change. Of late years the invasion of England by Americans has been so extensive that John Bull has been brought into closer relationship with Brother Jonathan, and finds that he is not such a bad or unconth fellow after all. He has many points in common with him-self, and, with a few exceptions, the same likes and dislikes. The other reason for this change of English opinion lies in the this change of English opinion lies in the oupidity of the insular heart. The vast sums of money that leave America every year, the bulk of which finds its way into the purses of British tradesmen and hosts, is a powerful means of exciting the respect which exists for the American traveler, and thus is extended generally to his countrymen. Credit, however, should be given to the honest and gradually increasing respect shown to Americans, which is due to the fact that the afforts made to learn more fact that the efforts made to learn more about them have resulted in truly enlightening the British mind in regard to American institutions. LORD SALISBURY WAVERING. LONDON, Sept. 17.—It is now becoming known that Lord Salisbury is wavering from the policy adopted towards Ireland by the ministry, and that he greatly fears the results which are to follow upon the execution of the measures passed by the session of Parliament just closed. His unconsolonable conference in the ministry, especially the Irish secretary, Mr. Balfour, are doing all they can to bolster up their chief, and to persuade him that if the present course is excessively disagrees-ble, it is none the less a duty. The passble, it is mone the less a duty. The passage in the Queen's speech, read at the prorogation of Parliament, which says the Queen trusts that the "remedles provided for Ireland will gradually effect a restoration to order," indicates what little hope is felt for the Tory cause even in the highest quarters. If any thing further than has already been shown was needed to point out the hopelessness of expecting to reconcile England to the government's treatment of Ireland, it would be the very disaffection in the Tory ranks themselves. Frequent murmurings ranks themselves. Frequent murmuring have been heard and have been quietly hushed, but the threatened resignation of Mr. Evelyn, a strong Conservative mem-ber for Deptford, gives the latest indica-tion of the drift of political matters.

THE DONCASTER DISASTER. LONDON, Sept. 17 .- The terrible accident LONDON, Sept. 17.—The terrible accident on the Midiand railroad yesterday, which has appaled all England, was occasioned by defective signaling. The Midland train was standing on a crossing about a mile from Doncaster, while the tickets were being collected. The Liverpool express, thinking the track was clear, came tearing along at a high rate of speed, and before its engineer could stop his engine, the express dashed into the standing train with frightful effect. The first of the Liverpool passenger car of the Liverpool train was completely telescoped over the next succeeding car. Both trains were adly wrecked, and the ground in the vicinity is strewn with splinters. The dying and the injured lay groaning and bleeding for a long time before they could be rescued from their terrible sufferings. Many were taken to Doucaster to hospitals. while others, too badly hurt to be moved so far, are being cared for near the scene of the disaster. Twenty-four victims are

FROM WASHINGTON.

An Important Decision WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—United States Attorney Hobson, of Colorado, has for warded to the Commissioner of the Genrral Land Office a copy of a most im-cortant decision rendered by Hon. Moses Hall, United States District Judge for the District of Colorado, in the case of the United States vs the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company; deciding as to the right of said Company to cut timber from sublic lands under the Granting act of June 8, 1878, and the General Right-of-Way act of March 8, 1885. Conceding the right of said road under the Franting act to procure timber for construction and repairs from public and adjacent to that portion of that road completed prior to June 8, 1882, and under the General Right-of-Way act for con truction only from lands adjacent to that postion of said road constructed sub-sequent to June 8, 1862, the judge ren-lered the first judicial decision that the hand Office has been able to obtain as to Land Office has been able to obtain as to the meaning of the words: "from the public lands adjacent to the line of said coad" as contained in the act mentioned. The decision of the judge is that the ight to take timber from public lands inder said acts, extends laterally some listance from the right of way, and to much lands as may be reached by ordinary transportation, by wagons, and not other wise. The timber must be used for the construction of the road at or near the wise. The timber must be used for the construction of the road at or near the clace where delivered, and if carried by the road to points distant from the place of taking, the company are liable in trespass for the whole.

He further held that the Government vas bound to prove that the timber was aken from public lands, and having es-ablished that fact, the burden of proof as aplianed that fact, the burden of prove the timber ray used is upon the railroad company. In the absence of evidence to prove that mid timber was used in a place adjacent o that from which it was taken, and fo he purpose authorized by law, the Government is entitled to judgment. The amount or which judgment was rendered in thes wo cases is $39,237.12.

There are about $25,000 more coming in legacies, donations and Sunday school gifts. Last Sunday morning Grace M. E. Sunday school in this city voted $100 to the fund. It is to be hoped that the church will make this $1,000. In the afternoon the First M. E. church Sunday school voted $100, almost completing the $1,000 already promised this society. At the coming conference in Decatur next week, Mr. Shaw expects to resign his agency, but the work will go on until the $100,000, amount needed, is raised. No class of men are more worthy the liberality of the church and its friends than the men who laid the foundation of the church's schools and colleges all over this land in 2, 18, 2-890. H. F. now. Why, Chattanooga has twice as many Feds as Confeds. The plain truth is, we are a nighty small minority everywhere in the south; but the living are the tough ones, anyhow. The weakest died pretty fast just after the surrender, and the living bid fair to hang on a good while. Yes, you may say, too, that a good deal bigger proportion of officers lived than privates, because they were better fixed—had more money generally. CONFEDERATE SURVIVORS. hy a Southerner of the Con-

(Special Correspondence, NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—"You are away off n your notions about the Confederates in the in your notions about the Confederates in the south," said a member of a Georgia regiment to me the other day—"away off. I can show you that they are very few indeed compared with the Federal survivors."
"Why, there certainly, are several thousands Confederates in this very city," I replied, "and would not your muster rolls show they may survive?"

"We have none-you all got 'em at the sur-render. But, look here, how many sotual men do you suppose there were in the Confed-erate army, not counting double enlistments!"

a million. Now, it is true there are hundreds of the survivors in this city, and probably 10,000 in all the north and the territories; but men who worked twenty slaves, and, of course, men had to be left at home to run ferries, railroads, etc. There is no way of getting all the able bodied men of a country

718,000, and that's about 100,000 more than ever were in the Confederate army. It's a simple matter of figures—you can't get a man where he isn't. Suppose they got every man who could carry a gun, they would only have 700,000. Now, the Federal muster rolls show that they had $35,000 white men from the south, and the vote in the border states in 1863 abound that they had so in 1864 showed that a big majority of their men was at home; so where could the Con-federacy have got the extra men? There is, another way to get at it, and that's the purole lists. Six different armies surrendered, and all the paroles together amounted to 95,454. Now, add just as many more for guerrillas and prisoners in the north, and you have but 190,000; and then add another 100,000 or more for deserters who did not come in for paroles, and still you haven't 500,000 Confederate soldiers at the ord of the recu.

and still you haven't 300,000 Confederate soldiers at the end of the war. But, in fact, no 100,000 failed to get paroles—every fellow wanted one too bad—for we all thought it was a big protection to have a parole. Add all that number, though, if you like, and then add 300,000 lost in the war (and that's more then anybody claims), and you have then but 600,000. My own guess is that the Confederacy had, not counting double enlistments, about 550,000 actual men in arms from first to last, and that over $00,000 of them outlasted the war."

"In their graves, a big majority of them. You are as much mistaken about that as the other, for the boys in gray died faster after the war than the boys in blue. They averaged ten years older for one thing, and then, they didn't have good medicines when they didn't have good medicines when they got sick in the army, and they were mighty poor for a long time after they went home. Yes, I recken nigh to two-thirds of

I am positive there are not 180,000 in all the sixteen southern states today—not one man to fifty of the entire population. Their Business Booming. Probabably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at J. A. such a general revival of trade at J. A. Swearingen's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, colds, asthms, bronchitis, croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

WE would be pleased to know of a man or woman who has never had headache or been subject to constipation. As these seem to be universal troubles a little advice may be in order. Why should persons cram their stomachs with nanseating purgative pills, etc., which sicken and debilitate when such a pleasant and sterling remedy as Prickley Ash Bitters will act mildly and effectively on the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels, and at the same time tone up and strengthen the whole system, causing headache, constipation and all such distressing evils to quickly disappear.

GERMAN OPTICIAN.

ABOUT YOUR EYES,

and instruct you how to take care of them. YOU WILL SURELY MISS IT!

Should you overlook or neglect the opportunity of obtaining help for your eyes this time, during the remaining visit of Dr. Lewin. It is a fact that those organs of the human system most saily neglected are the organs of sight, to which neglect may be attributed the difficult task of obtaining glasses to, suit the sight, and which accounts for the horrlile contrivances and combinations brought into requisition and consequently different descriptions of people, who deplore their misfortune when too late. Therefore, make good this golden opportunity and call without delay on Dr. Lewin, who is enabled in an instant, as it by magic, to tell you say allment of your failing vision, point out the cause and adapt brilliant glasses pseudiarly ground to suit every defect of the eye, which will sid in restoring and strengthening the eyesight of the young and old.

During the many years he has practiced, he has GIVEN SATISFACTION and delight to thousands with defective sight, and it is not at all surprising that everybody is full of praise for the Doctor, and he daily receives recommendations from prominent ladies and gentlemen all over the country.

Dr. Lewin corrects the MOST DIFFICULT

all over the country. In the state general all over the country. The MOST DIFFICULT CASES of Hypermetripia, Myopis, Presuyopia, simple, compound and mixed astigmatism, muscular Astenopia, Deplopia, Insufficient Accommodative Power, Etc.

ARTIFICIAL EYES.

ARTIFICIAL EYES.

If you have lost an eye by accident, or by disease, call on the Doctor and he will insert an artificial one, which looks and moves like the natural one and will improve yeur looks.

A special careful Opthalmoscopic examination will be given to people to ascertain if they have Eyes with different focus.

A cordial invitation is extended to physicians to visit me at my office.

The Doctor comes highly recommended by prominent business men, lawyers, physicians and occulists all over the country. Following are a few of the many testimonials he receives every day: RECOMMENDATIONS

Rev. Dr. T. A. Parker, Presiding Elder of the M. E. Church, asys: "Having been fitted with glasses by Dr. Lewin, I take pleasure in recommending him as accurate and skillful.
